Lee & Associates' Andrew Cheney has been accepted into the Counselors of Real Estate.

The real estate group is an invitation-only organization for senior and distinguished executives and brokers.

Cheney was inducted into the Chicago-based group at a recent symposium at Stanford University.

Cheney joins 20 other real estate professionals in Arizona with the CRE designation. Craig Coppola, another Lee principal, also is in the CRE.

"In Andrew's 13-plus years working in our industry, he has consistently provided quality service, shown impeccable integrity and provided proven leadership," said Gerald Zaddack, Southwest chapter chair with the Counselors of Real Estate.
